

BUSINESS & MANAGEMENT

The Oxford University Press Business & Management list brings the best academic work on business and management, broadly defined, to an international audience of scholars, researchers and advanced students. Drawing on the foundation disciplines of business and management, the list includes work by economists, sociologists, psychologists, political scientists and historians, as well as business academics. The list contains monographs, works of reference, and books for the professional and general reader. It also includes books published in the prestigious Clarendon Lectures in Management Studies series.
